

The Social Science Environmental Health Research Institute Celebrates 50 Years of Rachel Carson's Silent Spring

Pioneers in Environmental Health and Justice

Launch Event for Social Science Environmental Health Research Institute

October 29, 4:00-7:00 p.m., Northeastern University Alumni Center
716 Columbus Avenue, 6th Floor

Honored Speakers: 4:00-6:00 p.m.

Reception, Refreshments and Networking: 6:00-7:00 p.m.

Kalila Barnett

Executive Director of Alternatives for Community and Environment

Gary Cohen

Executive Director of Health Care Without Harm

Julia Brody

Executive Director of Silent Spring Institute

The mission of the Social Science Environmental Health Research Institute is to conduct social science-oriented research, teaching, community engagement, and policy work in the area of environmental health. The Institute's work includes Environmental Health and Social Science training, community based participatory research, and research design and ethics projects in the field of environmental health.

For more information contact Matt Judge at jmjudge@neu.edu.