

Brandeis University has been selected to receive two $10,000 Davis Projects for Peace Awards. Congratulations to all four winners! They will be traveling this summer to work on their projects.

Abie Troen and Andrea Verdeja will be traveling to India to work on their project, "A Call for Dignity: Ending Manual Scavenging" in Dewas, Madhya Pradesh, India. Abie and Andrea hope to make a documentary promoting the rights and empowerment of Hindu and Muslim Dalit (untouchable) women in their ongoing struggle to eliminate the caste based practice of manual scavenging.

Catriona Stewart and Eli Philip will be traveling to Israel to work on their project, "Brandeis University - Al Quds University Student Dialogue Initiative." Catriona and Eli plan to visit Al Quds and work with students to create a framework for long-term student dialogue between Brandeis University and Al Quds University.
